

Heather Fowles

East Adams Rural Hospital and District Clinics would like to introduce Heather Fowles, our highlighted employee this week.

Heather Fowles is an EMT in Lind for East Adams Rural Hospital. Her responsibilities include caring for and transporting patients when on an ambulance call. She has worked for EARH for two years.

Heather was born in Salt Lake City, UT where she grew up. Heather moved to Lind in 1997 after her husband graduated from law school and got a job in Moses Lake. They had family and friends in Lind so they decided to live there.

Heather is the oldest of five children, three sisters and one brother. She and her husband have three daughters.

One of Heather's goals is to raise confident children. When they are all raised, she is considering going back to school to finish her degree. She decided to go into healthcare because her community really needed more EMT's. She had the time and desire, so she took the class. The thing that she loves most about her job is being able to help people when they are in trouble. She also enjoys the other EMT's in Lind that she gets to work with.

Right now, with children in high school most of her time outside of work is taken up supporting them in their many activities and sporting events. Some of her hobbies include, cooking, reading, listening to good music, shopping and spending time with her family.

Being a volunteer EMT is very rewarding. Unfortunately, they currently don't have enough EMTs in Lind to cover all the shifts. If this is something you have ever considered, please contact her so they can organize a class.
