

Janice Wolf

East Adams Rural Hospital and District Clinics would like to introduce Janice Wolf, our highlighted employee this week.

Janice Wolf is a nurses aide at East Adams Rural Hospital. Janice's duties include assisting with outpatients, acute inpatients, emergency room patients and clinic patients and procedures. She also helps keep the hospital supplies stocked.

Janice began working for the District in February of 2004 as a part-time housekeeper. She decided to take the NAC course and has been in the nurses aide position for sixteen months.

Janice was born in Miles City, Montana. Her and her family moved to Ritzville in August of 1988 when she was two years old. Janice has seven brothers and sisters.

Janice decided to go into healthcare to experience something and to find a career she would enjoy long term. When the NAC position came open, she decided it was time for a change, so she took the class. The best thing about her job is "the feeling of satisfaction when we've helped someone or made them feel better. We may not be able to fully cure everyone all the time, but knowing that even the simplest gestures can make our patients feel better or help their healing process, is a great feeling."

Janice's goal is have a career chosen before she gets her two year degree. Right now she hasn't decided on a major, so she would like to have something figured out within the next two and a half years. Her greatest accomplishment so far is graduating high school and starting college.

Outside of work Janice enjoys hanging out with her family and friends. She also enjoys spending time by herself. When she is by herself, she likes reading mystery or romance novels and playing games and chatting on the internet.
